A Mediaval Megaphone A curiosity of great antiquity is still to be seen within St. Andrew's church at Willoughton, near Guinsborough, says an English magazine. This is a quaint speaking trumpet with an ob-scure early history, dating back to the times of the Knights Templars. In shape it resembles a French horn and is more than five feet long, having a bell at the end of the graduated tub It was formerly six feet in length, but is now telescoped at the joints, where the metal has apparently decayed. Tradition declares it was formerly sounded from the tower to summon aid in case of need, as, when blown at a height, the weird, deep notes the trumpet produced could be heard a great distance away in bygone days It is believed that this curious instru ment has often been used to call to gether the villagers, thus dispensing with the usual bell, and to give additional power and strength to the choir, being then probably used by the chief singer, as the trumpet intensifies vocal sound to a marked degree.

In the little hamlet of Nordhastedt, near-Meldorf, a singular custom is observed annually. According to tradi-tion, it dates back to the thirteenth century. During that era the hamlet was on one occasion attacked by a band of robbers, and the men of the village were soon compelled to beat a Thereupon the women boldly attacked the robbers and not only van-quished them, but also took the leader and several of the band prisoners. As a token of their gratitude the men have ever since allowed the women to celebrate this great event by holding a festival at stated intervals, and on such occasions they exercise no au-thority themselves, but submit in all things to the will of the women. The latter greatly enjoy their tem-porary supremacy and, as a symbol thereof, never fail to fasten a large wooden slipper to erry lamp and chandeller in the hamlet.

A Great Spickler For Etiquette. Dr. Thompson, master of Trinity col-lege; Cambridge, was an exceedingly cold and austere man, never taking much notice of the undergraduates under his care. On one occasion a Trin ity man happened to be out walking and was caught in a storm. He ran across a field and took shelter beneath a large tree. When he arrived there, he found, to his horror, that Dr. Thompson was beneath it seeking protection from the rain. For some time both stood slient, watching the clouds both stood sieen, watching the crouds, till at last the undergraduate, growing desperate, ventured to remark that he thought it was clearing up a little. "Sir," said the doctor haughtily.

frowning upon the wretched youth. "all communications to the master of Trinity must be made through the

A Story of Henry Clay Dean. A good story is related of Henry Clay Dean, the famous orator of a generation or so ago. Mr. Dean was generally referred to as "Henry Clay Dean of Iowa" even long after he had established a home in Missouri. He explained his change of habitation in this way: "You see, they passed a ne-farious prohibition law in Iowa, and there's your whisky gone. Then they abolished capital punishment, and there's your hanging gone, and now the whole population seems to be drifting toward Universalism, and there's your hades gone. I can't live in a state that has neither hades, hanging nor whisky."—Argonaut.

Bad Hand Made Him Money. When Lord Curzon was at Oxford, he wrote an abominable hand. One day he penned two letters, one of them to a relative and one to a chum with whom he always discussed the faults of their respective relations, and accidentally put these letters into the wrong envelopes. He was about to write a profound apology to his rela-tive when he received the following note from him: "Can't read a word of your four pages, but guess you want some money, you young rascal.". In-closed was a Bank of England note for Korean Washerwomen. The hardest worked washerwomen in the world are the Koreans. They have to wash about a dozen dresses for their husbands, and they have plenty to do. The washing is usually done in cold water and often in running streams. The clothes are pounded with paddles until they shine like a shirt front fresh from a laundry.

A Typical Som's African Store. O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sundays River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: 'I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of EVERY TUESDAY, THURSDAY, AND the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by Richard Gibson Druggist.

Forty Years' Torture.

To be relieved from a torturing disease after to years' torture might well cause the gratiunde of any one. That is what DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve did for C. Haney, Geneva O. He says: "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me of piles after I had suffered 40 years." Cures cuts, burns, wounds, skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. For sale by E. S. Leadheater & Sons.

Notice to The Public.

A local Ticket Office will be opened at this point to accommodate passengers.

MEDICINAL.

Don't Treat Symptoms

Go after the cause. Stimulants and cathartics will never cure indigestion. They may temporarily relieve the system but the next meal clogs it again. The food should be digested. The nourishment—health—strength it contains should be appropriated—absorbed by the system.

KODOL Thrive

This new discovery digests all classes of food and assists the stomach and digestive organs in assimilating and transforming it into the kind of nourishment that is taken up by the blood and fed to the tissues throughout the various organs of the body. Kodol cures indigestion and dyspepsia, thus removing the cause of all stomach troubles. Kodol gives such strength to the body that it is invaluable in all wasting diseases.

"I wish to thank you for what Kodol hasdone for me," writes Clifton Girton, Collett, Ind. "It cured me of dyspepsia after everything close had failed. When I tried Kodol it helped me right away. I cheerfully recommend it."
